

Disability Provider

Specialised program for disability providers

This program will help you engage and connect on a deeper level with families and stakeholders.

Selling is simply good communication – the individual and their loved ones/carers has a need and you have the resources.

This program runs through how to understand these needs, how to align with each family/customer and deliver your solution effectively and with confidence. We make this communication ('selling') easy and comfortable.

This is full of practical methods to help you connect easily, with integrity and authenticity.

Fact track your sales abilities with this one day program (or break it down into bite sizes chunks over a few days). The course covers:

- Exploration
